

2010 Census: Utah Population Counts (Municipalities) and Estimates (Unincorporated Places)

In the past, unincorporated populations were mostly ignored in creating population maps. Concentrated population data was only available for incorporated municipalities. To fix this problem, AGRC has created a new populated place point layer (SGID93.Demographics.PopPlacePts2010_Approx) that includes unincorporated populated places with an estimate of their populations.

This new layer can be used to display all populated place locations (unincorporated and incorporated) in the state of Utah with their approximate population as an attribute.

This dataset represents unofficial estimates derived from manual/subjective manipulation of 2010 Census data. Please familiarize yourself with the construction methodology and examine data quality to determine suitability of use.

Population point layer symbolized by graduated symbols based on population value in Duchesne and Uintah counties.

Creation details:

- To determine point labels and locations, the SGID93.LOCATION.PlaceNamesGNIS2000 and SGID93.LOCATION.UDOTMap_CityLocations layers were used. Not every point in these files was used.

- To determine the population for unincorporated areas, nearby 2010 census blocks were selected and their populations added together. Aerial imagery and census block populations were used in determining how many census blocks to select for a given point.

Example of selection process: Census blocks counted in Enterprise's population total.

- Salt Lake County unincorporated populations were determined using township boundaries. Only Salt Lake County unincorporated populations were determined this way.

Census blocks included in the count for Emigration township (township boundary is bright green).

- The newly created unincorporated population center points were combined with SGID93.LOCATION.UDOTMap_CityLocations, which contain populations for incorporated areas.

Population Summary:

A population summary table is available below. The table includes the populations for each incorporated point and unincorporated point. Also, for each county it includes the population that was not counted in the point layer (either incorporated or unincorporated). 107,516 people over the whole state of Utah were unable to be assigned to a point. 65,566 of those people are in census blocks that are within 500 meters of an incorporated municipality.
